VENDAVAL BRASS

Access rider

How we make the show open to everyone, and what we can prepare with you.

FOR THE AUDIENCE

- No words needed. The show is music, circus and games. We explain the games with gestures and easily understandable examples.
- Multilingual artists. To make everyone feel at home, we can greet people in their language and say a few key words in English, German, Italian, Spanish, Catalan, Arabic, Russian, Turkish, Chinese and Japanese.
- Route. Flat routes work best. We can manage ramps and stairs, and we adapt the route and pace so wheelchair users and people with prams can follow.
- On request: Touch Tour. One hour before the show, in a quiet space, people with visual impairments can touch the clothing and its dragon appliqués, the musical instruments and the props, and meet the characters.
- We work together with the venue to create accessible shows. On request, with the venue's equipment or budget: audio description, hearing loops or headsets, vibrating backpacks (only in the amplified Concert in the audience), and sign-language interpretation.
- Relaxed version. A brass band can be too loud for some people. On request, for a planned audience, we offer a relaxed version, quieter and at a slower pace. We can walk more slowly or play in a quiet square or park. It can also take place in a hall without other visual or sound stimuli. Indoors: 5 m high and about 10 × 10 m, or larger depending on the number of participants.
- Easy read. An easy-read dossier is available at www.VENDAVAL.cat. Open the accessibility button at the bottom left and choose “Easy read”: the text on the website and the dossiers changes to easy read.
- Social circus. Our artistic director, tyle fernández, is trained in social circus (“Un circ universal”, Ateneu Popular 9 Barris, 2026, and other trainings in Germany). Our work follows the Universal Design for Social Circus (DUCS) approach.

FOR OUR TEAM

- No adaptations necessary. See the technical rider for the show's requirements.

tyle fernández (they/them) · technical contact and management
VENDAVAL@anartist.org · +34 644 389 757 · www.VENDAVAL.cat